School Hopped Up for Frog Jumping Contest

By LEROY PACINI

Mark Twain must never have thought it would come to this. It looks like we're going to have intercollegiate frog jumping at State. The athletic budget will never stand the strain. Joe Verducci is going back to English teaching.

Seems that we got a letter from Frog Town, Angels Camp, inviting all students and frogs to enter their "Jumping Frog Jubilee."

THERE'S MONEY IN LEGS

Nobody thought much about it until they reached the part where it said a thousand-dollar prize would be given to the frog who could break the world's record of 16 feet, 10 inches, set in 1944 by a frog named Maggie.

Things have been hopping at State. Biology classes have stopped dissecting their frogs. P.E. majors have been giving their hopefuls daily rub downs. Frog legs have been removed from the cafeteria menu.

WAR YEAR JUMP

But don't take too much stock in the historic jump by Maggie. It was during the war years. Even Herman Wedemeyer was All-America in those days.

We hear USC is going all out, as usual. They're importing Mario, a jumping frog from Italy, and have offered Stanton, prep flash in Florida, a full athletic scholarship.

RUSSIAN SUPER BRED

The Russian government is subsidizing a team of super bred frogs. Cal had a champ all ready to go, but he croaked. It looks as if State entrants will be the only simon pures.

Harvey Knox was going to disguise Ron and send him along. Unfortunately, Frogs of the Sea, an alumni group down south, nixed the deal and disqualified him. No hind legs.

The judges will be "Froggy," of Smilin' Ed McConnell fame, and Tony Bosnich and Eddie James, who can't get fights anymore.

Golfers Travel To Sacramento For Round-Robin

The Golden Gator golfers will journey to Sacramento tomorrow to meet Chico State, Nevada, and Cal Aggies in a continuation of the Far West Conference round-robin league schedule. The contest is scheduled to begin at 1 p. m.

Chico State, the league leaders, stack up as the top favorite, with San Francisco State, Nevada, and the Aggies following in that order.

Chico holds an 11-4 verdict over the Gators in a previous encounter, but the Gators have posted wins over Nevada, 9-6, and over the Aggies, 14½-½.

According to Coach de Gheald, "If Bob Moniz and John Glancy put together a good afternoon at Sacramento, the Gators could make it rough for the Wildcats." George Starm, Monte Nevis, and Milt Garfield will probably round out the squad.

HERB DOWER'S

Golden Murals

Volleyball entered the spotlight in last week's intramural activity with a full schedule of games being played. Iranian A. C., Alpha Zeta Sigma, and Kappa Omega took over the favorites' roles in the tourney after impressive performances in opening games.

In action last week, AZS posted wins over Iranian A. C. and the Faculty; Iranian A. C. defeated Sigma Pi and Kappa Omega; the Faculty downed Sigma Pi, East Bay A. C. beat Delta Phi Gamma, and K. O. beat East Bay. The best game of the week was the Iranian A. C.-K. O. battle which was a two-day affair.

Golf Tourney

The golf putting tourney, held in front of the Student Union, had many students "teeing off" during their lunch hours Tuesday and Wednesday. The horseshoe tourney also began play on Wednesday.

At a recent team managers meeting, it was decided that an "Intramural Athlete of the Week" would be chosen from the hundreds of students participating in the program. The selection will be based on attendance at activities, sportsmanship, team play, etc.

Outside of the realm of sports comes this delightful poem entitled "To Whom It May Concern:"

I hate this, or I hate that;
You're a bum, or you're a rat;
This shouldn't be, or no it ain't;
These seem to be the "stand-ard" complaints.
(If you're interested, and you should be,
The abbreviation of "stand-ard" is "S. T. D.")

Gators Lose to San Jose, 71-17

The tide turned on Coach Hal Harden's water squad when they lost to a powerful San Jose State college team by a score of 71-17.

Larry Fagan was the only Gator to win an event when he took top diving honors from four other contestants.

Two days later the Gators went down to defeat again, this time at the hands of Stockton College, 55-29.

Why Students Are Unable To Renew Overdue Books

Ever had reading and writing assignments so bunched together that you forgot to bring a book back to the library on time? Then, through neglect, you found you owed a fine, which you've probably paid, most of the time without a murmur. It's the democratic way. But, have you been faced with the additional problem of not being able to renew this overdue book, say to continue a term paper?

I have been in this predicament, unfortunately, and my dilemma was solved by getting a buddy to get the book out for me. But suppose there is no buddy around, what then? I believe it would be human to keep the book for a while longer, which means more money!

One day last week I was in the library and my curiosity suddenly directed me to investigate. I stirred my shoulders into a stern stereotype of shrewdness and walked up to a student librarian. The question stuttered out . . . "Why?"

Overwhelmed by my inquisition, the girl asked another librarian, and I was cornered by two justifiable answers to why we are not able to renew our overdue books.

First, the library card signifying the book is borrowed, has been taken out of one file box, and placed in an overdue file, which is located upstairs. Renewal of such a book would cause someone to take unnecessary time looking for the card and bringing it up to date. Naturally, a definite rule has to be established.

The second reply gave me a further sense of "guilt." My renewal might possibly deprive some other student of the joy of taking the book out. (But how about when I renew a book on the day it is due?)

—Bill Drury.

Gator Golfers Defeat Broncos

The San Francisco State golf team returned to their winning ways by scoring a 16-11 victory over the Santa Clara Broncos Tuesday, April 5, at Sharp Park.

Bob Moniz, Gator team captain, captured medalist honors by firing a 75 against the non-league opponents.

Swimmers Defeat San Diego, 58-19; Win Eight Races

The Gator swim team returned to the winning side when they downed the San Diego Naval Training Center, 58-19, before Easter vacation. The State swimmers won every race but one and took five second places. Only the 200-yard breaststroke was won by the Sailors.

Confusion reigned during the last race, the 400-yard relay. San Diego's first man finished after only two laps instead of the necessary four, thinking he had gone the distance, and in so doing missed too much ground to make up. In the confusion that followed, one of S. F. State's men started his laps before his turn. Both relay teams were disqualified, and no score was taken for that event.

Summary:

300-yd. medley — Captain Wally Macomber, Bill Benn and Bill Williamson won in 3:25.

220-yd. freestyle — Sam Citron, Ted O'Roke, 2:39.

50-yd. freestyle — Jules Voerge, and Bill Benn, 3rd; 25.8.

150-yd. individual medley — Ron McAneney, Ron Chapman, 2:54.

Diving — Larry Fagan, and Ron Penzil, 3rd.

100-yd. freestyle — Jules Voerge, Bill Williamson, 57.3.

200-yd. backstroke — Wally Macomber, Ron McAneney, 2:42.5.

200-yd. breaststroke — Ben Groat, 3rd.

440-yd. freestyle — Frank Blair, Sam Citron, 6:21.

The Gators, with a record of six wins and two losses, meet the California JVs at Berkeley, Friday, April 15, at 4 p. m.

33 Per Cent of Student Body Votes in Elections

Many Excuses Presented For Not Casting Ballots

By DICK LAINE,
Election Committee Chairman

Why don't people vote? Why is the RECORD vote in a General Election at San Francisco State College a shameful 33 per cent of the student body? I have been trying to answer these questions during the six semesters I have been going here, and I still haven't found the answers. I have heard many good excuses, but no honest answers.

"I haven't got time," is one of the most frequent excuses; but then the person who uses this excuse usually spends so much time trying to convince you he hasn't got time that he could have cast a half dozen votes.

TIME NO EXCUSE

In all seriousness I don't believe anyone on this campus has the right to say, "I haven't got time to vote." I have yet to find a person who couldn't spare five minutes from his daily schedule.

"I'm not interested in student government," is another excuse. Have you ever said "Why doesn't someone do something about these blasted food lines?" Or maybe you were the one who said, "They ought to do something about seeing to it that the library stays open later at night."

YELL LEADERS?

Or were you one of the many home-game basketball fans who said, "Where the heck are our yell leaders? Why the visiting school has a better organized rooting section than ours?"

If during the school year you have ever made statements such as these, you ARE interested in student government whether you know it or not. For in student government lies the answers to your complaints and the solutions to your problems.

NO COMPLAINT

But if you can't find the time or the interest to vote intelligently at least once a year, then you have absolutely no right to complain about anything that happens on this campus.

You may not care whether our school ever has a football game, or an on-campus rally, or a dedication week, or a homecoming dance, and there is nothing wrong with this attitude for some of you may only be interested in the theatre productions "State" has to offer.

PLAY IN ORCHESTRA

Or maybe your interest is in playing in the school's orchestra, or still again maybe the only extra-curricular time you have to spend you would like to spend with the Science Organization, in a way this is good because this would be one hell of a world if everyone in it were the same, but student government is much more than "pom-pom waving activities;" student government is the "voice" of the students, but how well they make that "voice" heard is up to you and me, and how wisely we choose to use our vote.

The next excuse then is, "I don't know anyone running; whom will I vote for?" If you are one of the many with this problem then consider it solved, because all you are asked to do is to make the most of what you have to work with.

READ SCHOOL PAPER

In this case read our school paper and find out the candidates' past experiences in activities; then, when possible, find out by talking to your friends about how well this person performed his duties.

Next read the campaign material. Which candidates are conducting the more vigorous campaigns? Who seems to have the most interest?

'SOLUTIONS TO ISSUES'

Which candidates have built their campaigns on "solutions to the most vital issues"? Next it is up to you to figure out which candidates will make your "voice" heard the loudest. Then it is up to you to ELECT the candidates who will best express your wish.

I, as your Elections Committee Chairman, have done everything in my power to make these 1955 General Elections as efficient and as convenient for you, the voters, as possible; all I ask of you in return is one thing—YOUR VOTE.

The Model United Nations will be held here May 5-7.

Parent-Faculty Club's Membership Declines

At a recent meeting of the San Francisco State College Parent-Faculty Club, the question arose of the importance of the organization in the eyes of the student body.

Membership in the organization has been steadily decreasing over the past years, with the result being the discontinuing of speakers for the meeting provided by the faculty.

According to Dr. Dorothy Wells, Associate Dean of Students, the faculty can no longer take part in the meetings due to a lack of available time. She said that the club will have to continue on its own.

A doubt has arisen as to the ability of the organization to continue. If the membership drive scheduled for April is not a success, the club will be discontinued.

One of the members suggested a poll be taken of the student body in question to the importance of the club. Regardless of this being a "streetcar" college with the majority of the students living at home, very little interest in the school and its organizations has been shown by the parents.

For many years, however, the club has been providing financial aid to students in need.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Exams Valuable?

Editor—In the two and a half years since I entered S. F. State college, I have taken courses from 25 different members of the staff. For the purposes of this letter I shall assume that there are fairly representative of the faculty as a whole.

Almost all of these instructors place some emphasis on either mid-term and/or finals as a means of grading. Now, I have no fault to find with this, but I do object very strenuously to studying for an examination, taking it, and then hearing no more about it, or simply having it handed back to me with a letter grade and no comment.

My argument is simply this: I think that more emphasis should be placed on making examinations as a part of teaching and not merely a means of assigning grades. Many of the tests and quizzes that I have taken here have been interesting and provocative. They have helped me to relate the various aspects of the material covered in the course and aided me in planning my work for the rest of the term, but they are almost useless in this respect if the instructor refuses to discuss or analyze them, after he returns them (if he returns them at all).

I think that the members of the staff have a right to assume that on a college level, the material that they assign will be read and that, therefore, the main purpose of the examinations they give should be to get the student to think, to see relationships, to tie up some of the loose ends and help bring the material into sharper focus.

If this can be done, I think that exams would become a more valuable part of most of the courses given here. Most of the instructors that I have had attempt to do this and to them I would like to express my thanks. PAUL BALER.

Rowdy Students

Editor—It has come to my attention and that of many of the students of this college, that the noon hours in the cafeteria seem to be taken up with a large amount of noisy students.

I have not noticed in the past that the student body spent their time popping bags, singing rowdy songs, and, in general, making spectacles of themselves.

If this is the attitude of the average member of the student body at San Francisco State College, which I doubt and hope it is not, then I can certainly say that a college education seems to be showing its effects in very unusual ways.

Not too long ago, several of my friends from another Bay Area college visited me during the lunch hour, and were quite surprised to find carryings-on of the sort that should not be found on a college campus.

I am ashamed to say that I could find no excuse for their conduct since I did not know their reasons for their attitude.

This letter might result in a great deal of disagreement from readers of this paper, but I consider it quite called for. If we want to make and keep State College one of the leading colleges in the United States, this is not the way to do it.

Colleges and universities are supposed to develop good citizens and well educated people, but at the rate the rowdy members of this college population is increasing, it won't be long before we develop a reputation we won't be proud of.

Good students make good citizens, while rowdy students don't make anything except disorder and trouble. How about starting a campaign to eliminate such actions on our campus?

Maybe, with the help and co-operation of the entire student body, we will be able to bring guests to our school and cafeteria and be proud of what we have to show.

Solutions Presented for Campus Parking Problems

By CHUCK MENDOZA

We knew somebody, somehow, somewhere, would come up with a perfect solution to the campus parking problem which plagues college students and campus cops across the nation. Dennis Krzyzaniak, instructor in chemistry at South Dakota State college at Brookings, offers these solutions:

1—Paint the tires the same color as the campus policeman's chalk. Several months will elapse before his current supply is exhausted.

2—Coat tires freely with concentrate HCL, which will react with chalk producing carbon dioxide and water.

3—Purchase tireless cars.

4—Obey the committees' current parking regulations in hope that their research efforts will bring us more modern modes of transportation such as space belts, short range rocket pencils, etc.

MATHIS JUMPS 6' 4"; STATE BEATS AGGIES

John Mathis again took top honors in the high jump to help the Gators win their meet with the Cal Aggies from Davis last Saturday, 79½-51½. Mathis equalled his previous record jump of 6 feet, 4 inches.

Milt Kelly, in addition to his usual good work in the sprints, won the broad jump with a 20 feet, 10 inches leap. This is the second time he has attempted this event.

The meet was close all the way with the Aggies' Jack Threlkeld giving the Gators trouble by winning both the 220 and 100-yard sprints. He took the 100-yard dash in 9.6, with Oreesse Elmore close on his heels.

ARE YOU LOOKING for a completely enjoyable cigarette? Then get a clue from the Droodle above, titled: Smoke rings blown by riveter enjoying Luckies. Fasten on to Luckies yourself. Luckies are such great shakes because they taste better. And they taste better for excellent reasons. First of all, Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, whenever it's light-up time, enjoy yourself fully. Enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

SWIMMERS INVADE BERKELEY APRIL 15

San Francisco State's varsity swimmers invade Berkeley Friday for a return match with the California JVs.

State defeated the Bear Cubs, 49-35, in the first meeting of the teams, two weeks ago at San Francisco State.

The Gator 440-yard relay team of Ron Chapman, Jose Angel, Jules Voerge, and Ron Williamson, broke the school record of 3:56.7, with a 3:55 performance. The outcome of the meet rested on that race, and the same thing could happen again Friday.

State's divers, Larry Fagan and Ron Penzil, turned in a first and a second against California, and will again lead the Gators in that department. Other stars which Coach Harden counts on are Sam Citron and Ted O'Roke in the freestyle, and Wally Macomber and Ron McAneney in the breaststroke.
